Saint John Needs Liturgical Ministers!

Our parish is in need of choir members, altar servers, ushers, lectors, and Eucharistic Ministers. Deacon Mike wrote, "Catholic liturgical ministries are integral to the vibrant celebration of the liturgy. Each ministry, in its unique way, contributes to the rich tapestry of worship, drawing the faithful closer to God and one another. By being a part of these ministries, the Church manifests the unity and diversity of the Body of Christ, creating a sacred space where all are invited to encounter God."

Please prayerfully consider joining one of these ministries. If you feel called to serve, call the parish office at 724-537-8909. Thank you!

In your charity of prayers, please remember

Eternal rest grant unto her O Lord, and may perpetual light shine upon her. May her soul and the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen.

RELIGIOUS VOCATIONS "The Holy Spirit fell upon all who were listening." Is your child's love for the Lord leading them to grow in holiness as a priest or religious brother or sister? Reach out to your priest, religious coordinator, or diocesan vocation director.

OCIA Saint Mother Teresa exhorted us to, "Bring love into your home for this is where our love for each other must start." A loving family is where children learn and grow in love"

Embracing the Depths of Joy and Suffering: A Reflection for Women in Their Later Years

In the twilight years of life, women in their later often find themselves standing at the intersection of joy and suffering, where the tapestry of their existence is woven with threads of both profound happiness and profound challenges. As daughters of God, your journey through this phase of life is a testament to the enduring power of faith, resilience, and the transformative grace of God's love. In this reflection, we delve into the unique experiences of joy and suffering that shape the spiritual landscape of women in their senior years within the Catholic faith.

Embracing the Joy For women in their later years, joy takes on a deeper resonance, rooted in a lifetime of experiences, relationships, and encounters with the divine. It is a joy that springs forth from the well of gratitude, as you reflect on the blessings bestowed upon yourselves over the years. The joy of witnessing the growth and achievements of children and grandchildren, the joy of cherished memories shared with loved ones, and the joy of seeing the beauty of creation through seasoned eyes – these are but a few facets of the multifaceted jewel of joy that adorns your lives. In the sacraments, especially the Eucharist, you find a source of profound joy and spiritual nourishment. Each encounter with the body and blood of Christ becomes a moment of communion with the divine, a reminder of God's presence in your lives and a source of strength to face all the challenges that lie ahead. The joy of participating in the liturgy, surrounded by a community of believers, becomes a tangible expression of your unity with the mystical body of Christ. Moreover, in acts of service and charity, you discover a profound sense of fulfillment and purpose. Whether it be volunteering at their parish, praying the rosary for the community, reaching out to the marginalized, or offering a listening ear to those in need, your selfless acts of love become a testament to the joy that springs forth from life lived in service to others. In giving of yourselves, you experience the joy of knowing that you are co-creators with God in building His kingdom of love and compassion on earth.

Navigating the Depths of Suffering But yet, alongside moments of joy, you also confront the reality of suffering in its various forms. Physical ailments, the loss of loved ones, the challenges of aging, and the existential questions that accompany the twilight years – these are among the trials that you may encounter along your journey. In the face of such suffering, you are called to embrace the cross, drawing strength from the example of Christ's own suffering and death. In your suffering, you find solidarity with Christ, who in His passion and death, experienced the depths of human pain and sorrow. Through your own trials, you are invited to unite your suffering with His, offering it up as a sacrifice for the redemption of souls and the salvation of the world. In this way, your suffering becomes a participation in the redemptive work of Christ, a channel through which God's grace flows into the world. Moreover, in the midst of your suffering, you discover a deeper intimacy with God, as you turn to Him in prayer and contemplation. It is in the silence of prayer that they encounter the divine presence, finding solace and strength in the midst of life's storms. Through the sacrament of reconciliation, you experience the healing touch of God's mercy, receiving forgiveness for your sins and the grace to persevere in the face of adversity.

The Intersection of Joy and Suffering:

In the tapestry of your lives, joy and suffering intertwine, weaving a complex narrative that reflects the paradox of the Christian faith. It is in embracing this paradox that you discover the true meaning of discipleship – a journey marked by both the joys of resurrection and the sorrows of the cross. In your joy, you give thanks to God for the abundance of His blessings. In your suffering, you find strength in the promise of His presence and the hope of eternal life. As daughters of God, women in your senior years are called to bear witness to the transformative power of faith in the midst of life's joys and sorrows. yours is a faith that has been tested and refined by the fires of experience, a faith that remains steadfast in the face of adversity. It's a time to reflect on the ultimate joy awaiting in the heavenly kingdom, where all tears will be wiped away, and suffering will be no more. In embracing both joy and suffering, you find solace in the hope of eternal life and the assurance of God's unwavering love and mercy. May we, as members of the Body of Christ, learn from your example and draw inspiration from your witness as we journey together towards the kingdom of heaven. May God always bless you and keep you and may he continue to bless your ministry.

Deacon Mike
